ARNOLD, SAMUEL GREENE. History of the State of Rhode Island and Providence Plantations, 1636-1790. New edition, 2 vols., octavo, 574 and 600 pp. Price, $7.50, net.

Governor Arnold's History of Rhode Island, based upon a careful study of documents in the British State Paper Office and in the Rhode Island State Archives, supplemented by investigations at Paris and The Hague, has from its publication been the authoritative history of the State.

Geological students will find in these volumes the names of over fifteen hundred persons prominent in Rhode Island affairs. This work is of much more than local interest, as the experiment of religious liberty here tried gives to this history an importance far beyond the narrow limits of the State.

" One of the best State histories ever written in S. G. Arnold's History of the State of Rhode Island and Providence Plantations." JOHN FISKE.

" The best history of Rhode Island is that of Arnold."
PROF. GEORGE P. FISHER, Yale University.

" Mr. Samuel Greene Arnold in his history of Rhode Island has brought together all the extant materials. He brings out more clearly than any previous writer the distinct threads of the previous settlements."
PROF. JOHN A. DOYLE, Oxford.

"A work prepared after long and careful research. Probably no student has ever made himself more familiar with the history of Rhode Island than did Arnold. This work abounds, therefore, in valuable information."
PRES. CHARLES KENDALL ADAMS, Cornell University.

BAILEY, W. WHITMAN, (Professor of Botany, Brown University.) Among Rhode Island Wild Flowers. Cloth, 16 mo., three page illustrations, 75 cents, net.

This admirable little volume, the outgrowth of the author's ripe experience in teaching and in botanizing, contains a popular and interesting account of Rhode Island wild flowers as distributed throughout the State. The favorite collecting grounds are fully described, thus forming a botanical guide to Rhode Island.

In writing this volume Professor Bailey has had in mind the needs of the nature lover, and has discarded technical terms as far as possible, adapting the work to the amateur as well as the botanist.

It should be in the hands of every lover of wood-land and meadow.

DURFEE, JOB. What Cheer, or Roger Williams in Banishment; A poem revised and edited by Thomas Durfee. Cloth, leather label, 12 mo., 225 pages. Price, $1.25, net.

FIELD, EDWARD, (Past President of the Rhode Island Society of the Sons of the American Revolution.) Revolutionary Defences in Rhode Island. A historical account of the fortifications and beacons erected during the American Revolution, with muster rolls of the companies stationed along the shores of Narragansett Bay, with maps, plans, and illustrations. Octavo, cloth, nearly ready.

This volume contains an account of the various works of defence erected in the State, showing where and under what circumstances they were built. Muster rolls and company lists containing the names of more than seven hundred officers and enlisted men, many of which have been hitherto inaccessible, are here printed. The work is profusely illustrated with plans and views of those old earthworks, together with illustrations of the various styles of equipments used by the patriots of '76, and fac-similes of the enlistment papers of the Continental Army.

FIELD, EDWARD, (Member of the Record Commission, City of Providence.) Tax Lists of the Town of Providence during the Administration of Sir Edmund Andros and his Council 1686-1689. 60 pp. cloth, octavo. Price, $1.00, net.

The "Tax Lists of the Town of Providence" is a compilation of original documents relating to taxation during the Administration of SIR EDMUND ANDROS AND HIS COUNCIL, 1686-1689. It comprises copies of warrants issued by order of the Council for the assessment and collection of taxes, the tax lists or rate bills prepared pursuant to these warrants, the returns made by the townsmen of their ratable property, and the Tax Laws enacted by Andros and his Council. All of these, with the exception of the laws, which are found in a rare volume of the Colonial Records of Connecticut, are here printed for the first time.

Among the rate bills is the list of polls for 1688, which contains the names of all males sixteen years of age and upwards living in Providence in August of that year: practically a census of the town. For the genealogist and historian this volume contains material of the greatest value on account of the great number of names which these lists contain, besides showing the amount of tax assessment in each case.

The returns of ratable property form a study by themselves, for they tell in the quaint language of the colonists what they possess, and therefore shed much light on the condition of the times. For a study of this episode in New England Colonial History this work is invaluable.

The index of all names contained in the lists and text is a feature of this work.

The edition is limited to TWO HUNDRED AND FIFTY numbered copies.

GUILD, REUBEN ALDREDGE, (Librarian Emeritus, Brown University.) Footprints of Roger Williams. 48 pages, paper. Price, 35 cents.

In this little pamphlet Dr. Guild deals with the vexed question of Roger Williams' birth, and also traces his wanderings from his landing at Boston to his settlement at Providence.

ISHAM, NORMAN M., (Instructor in Architecture, Brown University) and Brown, Albert F., (Architect.) Early Rhode Island Houses. An Historical and Architectural Study, Illustrated with a Map and over fifty full page plates. Cloth, octavo, $3.50, net.

No feature in the study of the early life of New England is more valuable or more interesting than the architecture. Nothing throws more light on the home life of the Colonists than the knowledge of how they planned and built their dwellings.

EARLY RHODE ISLAND HOUSES gives a clear and accurate account of the early buildings and methods of construction, showing the historical development of architecture among the Rhode Island colonists, the striking individuality in the work of the colony, and the wide difference between the buildings here and the contemporary dwellings in Massachusetts and Connecticut.

Those interested in colonial life may here look into the early homes of Rhode Island with their cavernous fireplaces and enormous beams. The student will find in these old examples a valuable commentary on New England history, while the architect will discover in the measurements and analysis of construction much of professional interest.

Photographs and measurements of the dwellings have been made, and from them careful plans, sections and restorations have been drawn; in some cases six full page plates admirably drawn and interesting in themselves have been devoted to a single house. Several large plates give illustrations of framing and other details. It is to be noted that these plates are made from measured drawings, that the measurements are given on the plates, and that these constitute in most if not all cases the only exact records for a class of buildings which is destined to disappear at no distant day. It is believed that these drawings, and especially the restorations, will give a clearer idea than has ever before been obtained of the early New England house. A map enables the reader to locate without difficulty the houses mentioned in the text.

The authors have also discussed the historical relation of Rhode Island work to contemporary building in the other New England colonies and in the mother country. As was intended, the book is a mine of authentic information on this subject.

A list of houses in the State built before 1725, so far as they are known, with dates and a brief description will be found in the appendix.

JANES, LEWIS G. Samuel Gorton: a forgotten founder of our liberties, first settler of Warwick. Cloth, 12 mo., $1.00.

This is a fresh and comprehensive study of the varied career of the pioneer of Warwick. For the first time his political and religious opinions are adequately presented, and their remarkable agreement with the most advanced thought of our day is indicated.

KIMBALL, GERTRUDE SELWYN. The East India Trade of Providence, from 1787 to 1807. 8 vo., 34 pages, paper, 50 cents.

By a careful study of log books and commercial papers of the old shipping firms, the author is enabled to present an interesting picture of the East India Trade of Providence in its palmy days.

The author has gathered from many sources the scattered facts relating to the career of Mary Dyer and woven them into a detailed narrative, so that the tragic story of her life is now for the first time adequately told. By adding a brief but comprehensive sketch of the manner and sentiments of her times, he has furnished a background or framework for his subject which adds much to the interest of the volume by enabling the reader, the better to understand the surroundings of the characters he portrays. The important documents relating to her trial are printed in the appendix.

TOPOGRAPHICAL ATLAS of the State of Rhode Island and Providence Plantations, by the United States Geological Survey, in co-operation with the State.

Having secured the remaining copies of this Atlas, we offer them at the following reduced prices: In sheets, $1.00; in portfolio, $2.00; bound in cloth, $2.50; a few bound in half Morocco remain and can be furnished for $3.50.

The plates of this Atlas were engraved upon copper in the highest style of cartographic engraving by the United States Government and furnished to the State. From these plates transfers were made to stone, and the maps printed in four colors, viz: The names, roads railroads and other culture features in black. Rivers, ponds, swamps and other water features in blue. Contour lines and figures denoting elevation are in brown. State, county and town boundaries are in pink over the more exact boundaries in black or blue.

Besides showing all bodies of water and water courses, common roads or highways and railroads, it has one feature distinct from and superior to any map of the State hitherto published, viz.: Contour lines, drawn for each 20 feet of elevation above mean sea level. Figures are placed upon the heavier contour lines which denote elevations of 100 feet, 200 feet, etc., above mean sea level, also upon hills and bodies of water to denote their elevation. A contour line indicating 20 feet depth of water below mean sea level is drawn along the coast. In a few cases figures are given to indicate depth of water of less than 20 feet.

This Atlas includes 12 maps and 10 pages index and statistics, in all 22 sheets 21 x 16½. The scale of survey is $\frac{1}{62500}$ or one mile to an inch.

WHITMAN, SARAH HELEN. Poems. 261 pages, cloth, with portrait. Price, $1.50.

"Every reader will be struck with the delicacy of touch which Mrs. Whitman brings to the representation of nature. She has looked on the universe, not merely with the artist's eye, but in the spirit of profound communion with its life and with the passionate longing to wrest from it the solution of the eternal mystery." GEORGE RIPLEY.

"We have few collections of American verse so strongly individual as this; so permeated with that sincerity which instantly assures the reader that he is not enjoying the distillation through the poet of another's experience, but tastes at first hand the honey dew that has not fallen upon other pages." GEORGE WILLIAM CURTIS.

WHITMAN, SARAH HELEN. Edgar Poe and His Critics. Second edition, with a portrait of Poe, from a daguerreotype taken for the author. Cloth, 69 pages. Price, $1.00.

"In the delicate reticence of the book, in its tone of inward music—as if the singer were humming a melody beneath the song she sings—there is a pensive and peculiar charm. But it is not a eulogy; it is a criticism which is profound by the force of sympathy and vigorous by its clear comprehension." GEORGE WILLIAM CURTIS.

WILSON, GEORGE G., (Professor of Sociology, Brown University.) Town and City Government in Providence. 77 pages, paper. Price, $1.00, net.

Professor Wilson traces step by step the development of the government and constitution of the town from the coming of Roger Williams to the present day. The result is a valuable study of the evolution of a New England municipality.

John J. Tigert, M.A., S.T.B., Professor in Vanderbilt University. In two volumes. Royal 8vo. Each 2 00

Volume I. includes 1. Theology Proper. 2. The Person and Work of Christ. 3. Eschatology: the Doctrine of the Last Things. 4. The Person and Offices of the Holy Ghost. 5. The Doctrine of the Holy Scriptures. Volume II. includes: 6. Anthropology: the Doctrine of Man. 7. Ecclesiology: the Doctrine of the Church. 8. Christian Ethics. 9. A Theological Glossary. "No Methodist writer, not excepting Watson, Pope, Raymond, or any other Methodist author, has ever more clearly and forcibly set forth and unanswerably vindicated Wesleyan Methodist Arminianism than has Dr. Summers. As a text-book, on which a student is to stand an examination, it has qualities that must give it the precedence over Watson or Pope."—Dr. John E. Edwards. "Dr. Summers was evidently a man of profound convictions, of wide reading, cautiously conservative, but ready to learn, able to defend his positions. His ultraconservative views of textual criticism interfere with the accuracy of his citation of proof text; but his editor has been careful to annotate in the interest of a more correct attitude to the real word of God. Indeed, Prof. Tigert has supplemented the volume so as to bring it 'down to date' in all the departments of Biblical learning upon which it seemed to require such enlargement. The doctrinal views are precisely what might be expected from the claims of the title. They are carefully and fully stated, objections are candidly weighed; but the author remains a Wesleyan Arminian."—Sunday School Times.

Southern Writers.

Biographical and Critical Studies.

By William Malone Baskervill.

IN a series of twelve papers the writer proposes to give a tolerably complete survey of that literary movement which, beginning about 1870, has spread over the entire South. Since that time Southern writers have been conspicuous among the chief contributors to the nation's literature. There will be no attempt to place a final estimate upon this contribution, though some critical opinions will now and then be offered. The effort will be rather to present biographical data and literary appreciations—to stimulate the desire for a more intimate acquaintance with this literature which is so fresh, original, and racy of the soil. The series will appear as follows:

1. Joel Chandler Harris.
2. Maurice Thompson.
3. Sidney Lanier.
4. Irwin Russell.
5. Mrs. Margaret J. Preston.
6. George Washington Cable.
7. Charles Egbert Craddock.
8. Richard Malcolm Johnston.
9. Thomas Nelson Page.
10. James Lane Allen.
11. Miss Grace King.
12. Samuel Minturn Peck.

These writers may not unfairly be considered typical and representative of the best that has been produced in this new era.

OUR SUNDAY SCHOOL PERIODICALS.

EDITED BY REV. JAMES ATKINS, D.D.

Our Sunday school periodicals should be used in all our schools. They are authorized by the General Conference, prepared by our editor, published by our House for the especial use and benefit of our people. They are adapted to our wants, and should not be substituted by any other.

Preachers, Sunday school officers, and all others interested in the furtherance of Southern Methodism, see to it that no undenominational or impure literature is used in our schools! In matter and style our literature is equal to the best, and is cheaper than any other of equal grade. All the moral and religious reasons that call for Methodist preachers in Methodist pulpits call for Methodist literature in Methodist schools. Write for specimen copies.

The Sunday School Magazine. A sixty-four-page monthly of acknowledged excellence, for the use of officers, teachers, and older scholars. With full exposition of the International Lesson texts, every number contains valuable hints as to the facts, principles, objects, methods, and capabilities of Sunday school work, blackboard illustrations and colored map. No publication of equal merit is furnished at a less price. 768 pages yearly, postpaid, for the small sum of 50 cents.

The Senior Quarterly. A thirty-two-page pamphlet devoted to lesson helps for scholars in advanced classes. Its value is enhanced by the introduction of appropriate forms for opening and closing exercises, hymns and tunes, maps, dictionary of proper names, etc.

A MODERN PUBLISHING HOUSE . . .

Rand, McNally & Co.,

CHICAGO AND NEW YORK.

The well-known printing and publishing house of Rand, McNally & Co. was established nearly forty years ago (in 1856). Its business has grown steadily and rapidly, necessitating several removals and enlargements of quarters, until the present magnificent structure was erected in 1889. The building has a frontage of 150 feet on Adams Street, and extends 165 feet through to Quincy Street. It is ten stories high, a model of convenience, and one of the few really fire-proof buildings in the city. It was the first all-steel structure erected in Chicago. In the center is an open court 60 x 66 feet, with its outer walls faced with English white enameled brick. Thus ample air and light are furnished for all the inner offices. The building cost over $1,000,000.

Here is the home of one of the largest printing plants in the world, and the greatest of railway ticket and time table manufactories. The company does a very large general printing and publishing business, but is chiefly known as publishers of maps, atlases, globes, and guide-books. Their capacity for this line of work is unexcelled, and their name on any such publication stamps it as a standard work.

The New York Branch of Rand, McNally & Co. is at 61 East Ninth Street (near Broadway), in the new Educational Building. The location is central, easily reached by cable and elevated roads, and is near the large publishers, booksellers and school-supply houses.

Teachers and school officers are cordially invited to call at either of our offices and examine our large stock of maps, globes, and atlases.

Numerals printed in red on the face of maps refer to a marginal index, which shows at a glance what railroads and express companies operate to the point so numbered.

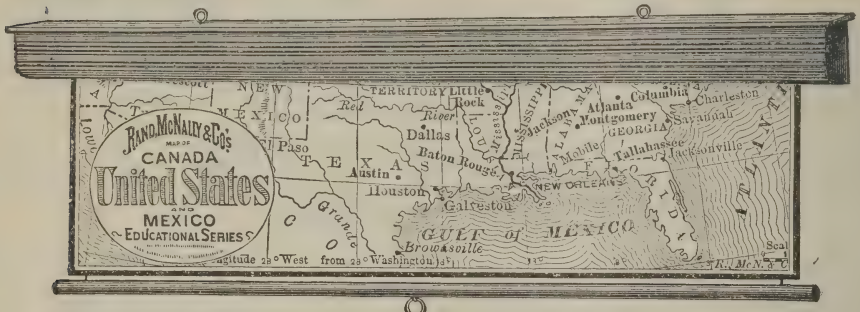
United States Maps

Published by

RAND, McNALLY & CO.

We have numerous physical and other maps not described in this list, and we solicit correspondence in cases where no map is found mentioned suitable for the purpose for which it is desired.



The "Diamond" Map Case with Spring Roller, showing the map partially drawn down.
We furnish with each Case two screw eyes and two hooks with which to attach it to the wall.

Enlarged R. R. Map.

Size, 90x65 inches; approximate scale, 37 miles 1 inch. Embracing the entire United States and the greater and most important portions of Canada, Mexico, and the West Indies. This is an ideal business map. Compiled from the latest surveys, both governmental and private. Handsomely colored by States. The large majority of commercial houses care little for any features but railroads and towns, and this is the one idea that has constantly been kept in view in preparing this map. No counties are shown, thus making the commercial features more prominent than it would be possible to delineate them on a map twice the size with the county outlines given. The more prominent geographical features, mountains, rivers, lakes, etc., are correctly located.

Wall map (cloth back)..... $15.00
Wall map, in Diamond Case..... 20.00

General Map of the United States, with portions of Canada and Mexico.

Size (one sheet), 66 x 46 inches; scale, 45 miles to one inch. Compiled and drawn from the latest records of the United States Land Office and from the records of the Surveyor General for the different States and Territories. It shows all State and County boundary lines, Indian reservations, mountain ranges, peaks, lakes, and rivers; all lines of railroad are carefully located, and the cities and towns thereon shown in large, plain type. The States are contrasted in colors by our celebrated patent process. Embraces the territory between Maine and California east and west, and from the southern shore of James Bay on the north to Monterey, Mexico, on the south.

Popular County Map.

Size, 48 x 36 inches; scale, about 65 miles to an inch. Embracing the territory between the eastern boundary of Maine and the western boundary of the State of Washington east and west, and from the southern boundary of James Bay south to include all of the Republic of Mexico and the West Indies, with a map of the Territory of Alaska in the lower corner. Globe Map of United States, Canada, and Mexico.

Size, 41 x 58 inches; scale, 75 miles to one inch. The United States and its immediate neighbors on the north and south form, commercially and geographically, a single country, irrespective of their political separateness. It is for this reason that this map of the United States was made to include not only Canada and Mexico, but the Central American States, Cuba, Jamaica, and the Bahamas — a territory extending from the equator to the 55th degree of latitude north.

The details are full, without being crowded, and the plan of coloring contrasts distinctly the boundaries of adjacent States. The relative importance of cities is indicated by the graded sizes of type used for their names, while capitals, etc., are further distinguished by the signs used for locating them. An inset map, $8\frac{1}{2}$ x $6\frac{1}{2}$ inches, shows Alaska on a scale of 187 miles to the inch. No Railroads are shown, the idea being to make a map on which important towns and their relative positions will be seen at a glance.

Cloth back (wall map) $5.00
Cloth back in cloth cover, folded, 5 x 10 inches 6.50
In Diamond Case (see sixth page) 6.50

Columbia Series Map of United States.

Size, 66 x 46 inches; scale, 53 miles to one inch. This is not a railroad map, consequently it is very distinct in other respects. It includes the territory between 25° and 55° North Latitude, thus showing the United States entire, and quite a large portion of the Provinces of Canada and the States of Mexico. All boundaries of States and Territories are very plain, and the new States distinctly outlined; separate contrasting shades of color indicate the different political divisions; mountainous regions are more satisfactorily shown than upon other maps, and this feature will at once secure approval; not only the mountain peaks and ranges, but the foot-hills and scattering portions are so represented as to give the most correct impression of location and extent. The heights of the more important mountains and the lengths of rivers are given. The relative importance of cities and towns is indicated by black dots of various sizes. Their average annual temperature is also noted. In the borders of the map parallel places in other countries are named.

RAND, MCNALLY & CO.'S

New Large Physical Maps

EACH MAP MEASURES 66 X 46 INCHES.

This series of physical maps contains all the good qualities of the German and French maps, besides adding many important features not contained in any of the foreign publications.

The system of coloring employed to indicate the elevations is superior to that adopted by the European cartographers. The shadings of brown are so carefully blended that the valleys appear depressed and the mountain systems to stand out in bold relief.

Ocean Currents, which are of primary importance in determining climate, are shown in the most appropriate colors—the warm currents being represented by a warm brown and the cold currents by a cold blue color.

Isothermal lines for July and January are traced in solid red lines, degrees of heat and cold being distinctly marked on the sides of the map.

Plant Distribution in North America, Europe, and Asia is plainly shown by heavy broken red lines. No other physical maps or text books on this subject correctly show plant distribution in North America.

The happy blending of all the colors used in this series of maps is artistic, the effect pleasing, and the result a comprehensive object lesson that a child can understand.

In the preparation of this series of physical maps, old landmarks have been discarded, and for the first time the results of recent exploration and research are given to the world.

The trend of the most successful teaching of the kindred subjects —geography and history—is all toward the use of the physical maps.

New Outline Tracing Maps (American Series).

We announce the publication of a new series of sheet outline maps, without names, for "progressive" work. These are printed on a highly calendered white paper, which can be used with pencil, ink, or colors. Size of sheets is uniformly 21 x 14 inches. The outlines are very clearly defined. Those of the continents and the various countries show projection and outline, without names. Maps of States and Territories of the United States show projection and outline, county boundaries, locations of county seats, and a few of the principal rivers, without names. The map of the United States shows projection and outline, boundaries of States and Territories, locations of capitals, and some of the principal rivers, without names. It is expected that the pupil will use a sheet for several days—one day in developing coast-lines, etc., filling in names, latitude and longitude, etc.; another in drawing in and naming mountain systems and rivers; another to political boundaries and cities; another to writing in names of productions, etc., until in a progressive way the pupil shall construct a full map.

These maps will prove invaluable for present methods of teaching, or for any purpose where outlines are required. The gradual filling in of details, whether geographical, historical, geological, or statistical, gives the pupil a knowledge of the comparative size and shape of the space shown, the political divisions, names and locations of cities, government (local and general), the course and the names of rivers, the position and names of lakes and bodies of water, which can be as readily secured in no other way. The cost of the maps is so small that they can be used freely.

The States and Territories of the Union are printed on the same sized sheets as the United States and the continents, and will present county boundaries, with dots for position of county seats.

Sixty-two maps of this series are now ready, as follows:

A BOOK FOR THE LOVERS AND OWNERS OF DOGS.

The American Book of the Dog.

The Origin, Development, Special Characteristics, Utility, Breeding, Training, Diseases, and Kennel Management of all Important Breeds of Sporting and Pet Dogs.

EDITED BY G. O. SHIELDS ("COQUINA").

MEXICAN HAIRLESS DOG—"ME TOO." Owned by Elroy Foote, New York City.

A most valuable and interesting series of articles by the best authorities in this country on the origin, development, characteristics, breeding, training, judging, kennel management, and diseases of all breeds of dogs.

Profusely and handsomely illustrated; 8vo; 700 pages; eighty-five illustrations.

Plain edges, cloth, $3.50; half morocco, gilt top, $5.00; full morocco, gilt edges, $6.50.

Having spent a number of pleasant evenings in close communion with the work in question, we can not refrain from saying: "And to you, also, Mr. Shields, the great body of American sportsmen should be profoundly grateful for the good judgment, the painstaking fairness, and the excellent taste with which you have guided the course of this laudable undertaking."

This new work is one that has long been needed. It is a large and beautifully illustrated volume of 700 pages, and may be said to cover the subject of which it treats from alpha to omega. Its list of contributors embraces the names of some two dozen gentlemen who are preëminently authorities on the subjects of which they write.—Sports Afield

Sweden and the Swedes.

By William Widgery Thomas, Jr.,

Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary of the United States to Sweden and Norway.

English edition: One volume, cloth, $3.75, two volumes, $5.00; one volume, half morocco, $5.00, two volumes, $7.00; one volume, full morocco, $7.50, two volumes, $10.00.

Swedish edition: One volume, cloth, $3.75, one volume, half morocco, $5.00; one volume, full morocco, $7.50.

Large 8vo; 750 pages; 328 illustrations. Pronounced by leading authorities the most reliable exposition of the habits and customs of the Swedish race.

Fisher's Cottage in the Stockholm Skärgård. From a Painting by J. P. Södermark.

Says the Svenska Kuriren of Chicago: "There is nothing new to us in reading the foreigner's impression of Sweden. We have already seen too many of them lately. But seldom, if ever before, has a work been issued by a foreigner who has had occasion to know Sweden so thoroughly, and still more seldom has the judgment been so favorable as in this case. His picturing of the middle class and the peasantry is matchless. It is with a feeling of regret that one finishes reading the book, as one wants to read more by the same author on the same subject. Pictures of persons, landscape, etc., are very finely executed, and will no doubt increase its circulation. The well-known firm of Rand, McNally & Co., Chicago, are the publishers, another recommendation for the work."

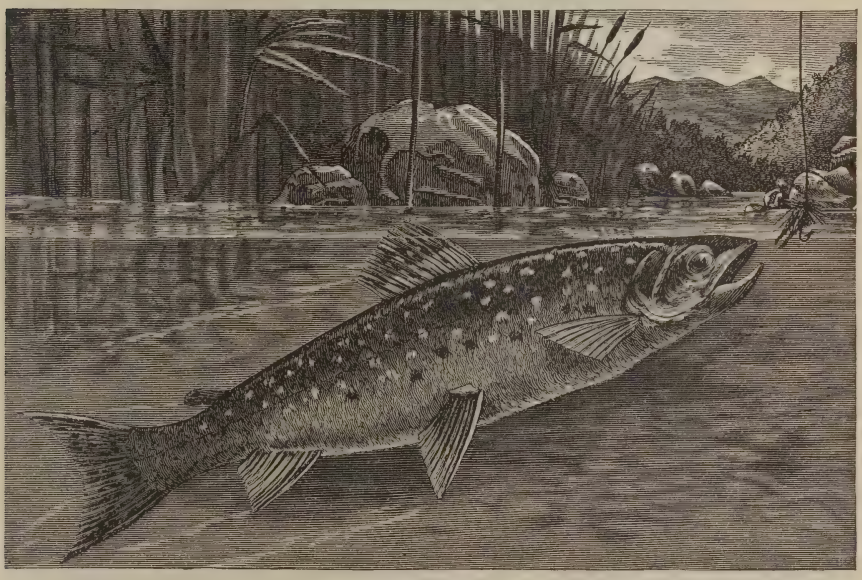
The Philadelphia Public Ledger says: "For real knowledge of the people, soil, institutions, and traditions of Sweden one must consult such a book as this of our Minister's, which is closely packed with useful information, with shrewd but kindly observations, and vivid descriptions. Mr. Thomas' energy and versatility are well attested by this book, which may be read with profit, as it must be read with pleasure."

American Game Fishes.

Their Habits, Habitat, and Peculiarities; How, When, and Where to Angle for Them.

EDITED BY G. O. SHIELDS.

By combining experience with the contents of text-books, a fair but superficial knowledge may be gathered of the fishes of the Atlantic, Pacific, and Gulf States, and coast; but it can not be a complete record of their life and habits, such as would be acquired by a score of anglers, widely separated, each treating of one or two fishes that he has studied closely in all their relations, because they are his favorites, and because such a study is necessary in order to be successful in their capture; for, let it be understood, there are angling specialists as well as other specialists.



THE RISE.

CONTENTS: The Salmon; the Pacific Salmon; the Land-Locked Salmon; the Tarpon; the Striped Bass; the Black Bass; the Bluefish; the Mascalonge; the Mascalonge in Wisconsin Waters; the Brook Trout; Trouting on the Nipigon; the Lake Trout; the Rocky Mountain Trout; Sea Bass, Sea Trout, Spanish Mackerel, Grouper, Mangrove Snapper, Sheepshead, and other Southern Fishes; the Grayling; the Pike; the Wall-Eyed Pike; the Pickerel; the White Perch; the Yellow Bass, White Bass, Strawberry Bass, Rock Bass, Crappie, Sunfish, Yellow Perch, and Minor Perch and Sunfishes; the Senses of Fishes; Fishing-Tackle, and How to Make It; Reels, Their Use and Abuse; the Angler's Camp Outfit.

Large 8vo; 155 illustrations and two colored plates.
Cloth, $2.50; half morocco, $4.00; full morocco, gilt edged, $5.50.

A book that will delight the heart of the angler.—San Francisco Chronicle.

No angler's library is complete without this work.—Outing, New York.

A volume which will make the nerves of the disciples of old Isaak Walton tingle to even glance through the pages. . . . . Both the art and the written text are excellent.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

The Big Game of North America.

A Book for the Sportsman and Naturalist, as well as every Youth and Adult fond of Adventures with the Big Game.

EDITED BY G. O. SHIELDS ("COQUINA").

Author of "Cruisings in the Cascades," "Battle of Big Hole," "Camping and Camp Outfits," etc.

THE SULTAN OF CHOPACA.

Not a mere compilation of anecdotes and stories, but consisting of articles by well-known and recognized authorities on the proper mode of pursuit and capture of those quadrupeds considered legitimate game for the adventurous nimrods of this continent. Twenty-six species are exhaustively considered by as many writers.

Copiously illustrated; 8vo; 600 pages; eighty illustrations.

Cloth, $3.50; half morocco, gilt top, $5.00; full morocco, all gilt edges, $6.50.

The Honorable John Dean Caton, the eminent naturalist and jurist, author of "The Antelope and Deer of America," etc., says of this work: "Any one of the names on Mr. Shields' list of contributors should insure the sale of an entire edition of his book, and when we multiply this possibility by twenty-six, the whole number of names on his title-page, the result obtained indicates the magnitude of the success that should, and that we hope will, crown his labors and those of his collaborateurs. The editor of this work has not overlooked the fact that this is preëminently a practical age—an age of object-teaching. He has, therefore, illustrated his book in a way that he and his contributors may justly feel proud of."

A BOOK FOR EVERY NATURALIST AND LOVER OF OUTDOOR SPORT WITH THE SHOTGUN.

Shooting on Upland, Marsh, and Stream.

Profusely illustrated; 8vo; 473 pages.

Cloth, $3.50; half morocco, gilt edges, $4.50; full morocco, gilt edges, $6.50.

SNIPE SHOOTING.

This handsome octavo . . . is a composite book, there being twenty authors, each of whom writes on the bird which he prefers to bag. . . . Ducks, prairie-chickens, grouse, wild turkeys, geese, pigeons, snipe, quail, woodcock, and plover are among the birds named. The habits of all are minutely described; so are the most effective methods of securing them. The pictures are very good.—New York Herald, May 18, 1890.

NO BOOK ON FIELD SPORTS HAS EVER BEEN MORE FAVORABLY RECEIVED.

Wild Fowl Shooting.

By William Bruce Leffingwell,

Author of "Shooting on Upland, Marsh, and Stream." Containing scientific and practical descriptions of wild fowl, their resorts, habits, and the most successful methods of hunting them. Treating of guns, decoys, blinds, boats, retrievers, etc.

In the Marsh, over Decoys.

Handsomely illustrated; 8vo; 373 pages.
Cloth cover, $2.50; half morocco, $3.50; full morocco, gilt edges, $5.50.

Outing, in course of its review, says: "For a writer of books on sporting subjects one qualification is absolutely indispensable if the result is to be a success, and that is that the author shall have his heart thoroughly in his work. In no other class of literature is the lack of such a qualification made so palpable to the reader. In 'Wild Fowl Shooting' Mr. William Bruce Leffingwell shows his love and knowledge of sport in a way which will give his work a high place in sporting literature. From the first to the last chapter the book is nothing if not practical, and the information is pleasantly interspersed with anecdotes and stories in such a way that the veteran will read with amusement and interest and the tyro will gather instruction at the same time."

Cloth, $2.00; half morocco, $3.00.

A Portrait.

Men who enjoy jaunts in the woods in search of big game will find this book extremely interesting.—New York Herald.

"Cruisings in the Cascades" is by far the best thing "Coquina" has ever written.—American Field.

It is by all odds the most fascinating book on big game hunting ever published. —The Journalist.

Nature, if unkind in a way, has been lavish in her gifts to this desert pit. Well has this valley been named, and yet for more than half of the year it is one of the healthiest spots of the Pacific Coast. It is a place where rainstorms are well-nigh unknown, and yet one where the effects of cloudbursts are almost unparalleled. It is the hottest spot on earth, and yet ice often forms there. It is a region where the beds of lakes are found on the pointed peaks of mountains. It is a region where a mountain system of the most gorgeously colored rocks is known as the Funeral Range. It is a rent in the earth, the bottom of which, in spite of the washings of centuries, is probably deeper below the level of the sea than that of any other valley of the world. Handsomely illustrated; 226 pages. Cloth, $1.00.

A Geographical Game.

A TRIP THROUGH THE UNITED STATES.

A most amusing and instructive geographical game for young and old. On a map of the United States are printed red and black numbered stars at the location of principal cities. The play is with dice and begins at Boston, which is No. 1. From that point the player works his way to San Francisco, progressing the number of points he throws. To some numbers a penalty is attached, and to others an advantage, so that the fun of the game is in its uncertainty. For instance, if a throw of the dice lands a player on Death Valley, Cal., he must begin over again at Boston. In substantial cloth case, $1.00.

"Strength."

A Treatise on the Development and Use of Muscle by the Champion, C. A. SAMPSON, "The Strongest Man on Earth."

Mr. Sampson, who is recognized as the champion strong-man by athletes the world over, published a short, preliminary pamphlet in England some years ago, which had a phenomenal sale, and we feel sure that his present work will meet with an even greater success. He treats the subject simply and concisely, and, as his system calls for the use of few apparatus, the book is one eminently fitted for home use. It is the most practical and simple manual ever published, and, without doubt, is destined to be the standard work on the subject. It is profusely illustrated, the pictures being especially adapted to elucidate the instructions given in the text. In no way has expense been spared to make it the most perfect book of its kind on the market. Other works of less merit sell for far higher prices.

240 pages, 50 full-page illustrations. Price in paper, 50 cents; cloth, $1.00.

The paper edition is second-class mail matter.

BUFFALO BILL; From Prairie to Palace.

With sketches, stories of adventure, and anecdotes of the world-famous scout. By Major John M. Burke, authorized by Gen. W. F. Cody.

The subject of this book needs no introduction to the newspaper-reading public. It is to be said, however, that his reputation does not, like many others, rest with the press. No better proofs of his sterling qualities are needed than the commendations of the various generals under whom he has served.

The celebrated Indian fighter, Gen. E. A. Carr, says: "Mr. Cody seemed never to tire, and was always ready to go in the darkest night or the worst weather, and usually volunteered, knowing what the emergency required. I consider that his services to the country and the army by trailing, finding, and fighting Indians have been invaluable."

275 pages. Cloth cover, $1.00. Paper cover, 50 cents.

SEVENTY YEARS ON THE FRONTIER.

Alexander Majors memories of a lifetime on the border, with a preface by Gen. W. F. Cody (Buffalo Bill). Edited by Col. Prentiss Ingraham.

No man is better able to speak of early border life than the subject of this work. Having passed an entire lifetime in the far West during its most stirring times he is certainly well able to write on the matter. The fact that his friends are among the most noted pioneers of the West is a sufficient guarantee of the value of the work.

325 pages. Cloth cover, $1.00. Paper cover, 50 cents.

 Library of Choice Authors, No. 1.

This set of fifty volumes for the Sunday school has proven a most popular success. The fact of a selected library without a single volume being included to "fill up," or upon other grounds than its real worth and popularity, has been most encouragingly appreciated. No other set therefore issued can compare with this LIBRARY OF CHOICE AUTHORS. Special attention is called: 1st. To our galaxy of authors. 2d. To the size of our books (25 per cent. larger than any other set at the price). 3d. To the durability of the binding (no small matter). 4th. To the real worth of every book. Send for our full descriptive catalogue of this set, giving the titles, authors, size of volumes, etc. Per set, put up in a neat wooden case..... 24.75

Alypius of Tagaste. A Tale of the Early Church. By Mrs. Webb, author of "Naomi."

"Alypius of Tagaste presents a picture of the early church, particularly in Alexandria, at one of the most interesting periods, when heathenism was vainly battling against the rising power of Christianity. The condition of Christ's faithful followers at that time, and the gradual spreading of the leaven are shown."—The Golden Rule.

Ben Hadden; or, Do Right whatever comes of it. By W. H. G. Kingston.

"Ben Hadden is the son of an English sailor who is lost at sea, but not till he has taught his children to do right whatever comes of it. Ben goes to sea, too, when he is older, and after many vicissitudes discovers his long lost brother, who has been wrecked on an island in the Pacific. There is a good deal of missionary information worked into the story. It is a good, honest story, which boys will enjoy and will get only good from reading."—The Evangelist.

Christ and the Heroes of Heathendom. By Rev. James Wells.

"This is one of the most useful and interesting publications of the Religious Tract Society. The subject is one which engaged the scholarly author for many years. It includes the comparative examination of Aeschylus as the theologian of heathendom; Socrates, its reformer; Plato, its prophet, and Epictetus, its saint, and the summing up of the whole in a chapter on Christ and his competitors. The work is popular and practically useful."—The Independent.

More than Conqueror; or, A Boy's Temptation. By Harriette E. Burch.

The influence of evil associations has its deteriorating effect, and the hero of this story is no exception to the rule. Being placed away from home amidst strangers, he falls into the company of loose companions, but after seeing the folly of his present mode of life turns upon it and becomes the conqueror of self. A good lesson in self-restraint is evolved from the story.

Myra Sherwood's Cross, and How she Bore It. By Edward Garrett, author of "The Occupations of a Retired Life."

Christianity as a real factor in life is often tested by contact with the world. Religion that is not acquainted with adversity, that has never met with sorrow, cannot appreciate the strength of the cords of faith by which it is bound. Myra Sherwood, brought up in deep piety, knows nothing of the world's contest for supremacy. In the severest battles she has her lessons to learn and her trials to bear and the story of the way in which she gains the victory is most interesting and helpful.

Not by Bread Alone. By Edward Garrett.

Powerful and attractive, dealing with some of the leading theological difficulties of the present day.

"This is a book of much strength, somewhat out of the common run. The story suggests Edna Lyall's writings both in its careful character, analysis, and in its popular qualities."—The Pilgrim Teacher.

Of All Degrees. By Leslie Keith.

"The characters belong to the better class of people, and the view which the story presents of life on this plane, with the vicissitudes and trials to which it is ever subject, has a special attraction to the thoughtful reader."—The National Presbyterian.

Stella's Pathway. By Ellen Louisa Davis.

The author sets forth her views upon modern bazaars, and the part now taken by women in evangelistic and philanthropic work. The incidents are lively, the character sketching very good, and the book can hardly fail to arouse the attention and usefully direct the thought of the reader.

Young Oxford Maid in the Days of the King and the Parliament, A. By Sarah Tytler.

"An impressive tale of life in England in the time of Cromwell, during the struggle between King Charles and the Parliament."—The Lutheran Observer.

STORIES OF CHILDHOOD.

Bound in handsomely decorated cloth covers, small 4to, illustrated, each 50 cents.

How the Children Raised the Wind. By Edna Lyall, author of "Doreen," "Donovan," "We Two," etc. Illustrated by Mary A. Lathbury.

With her accustomed humor, the distinguished author relates how two children, by methods as amusing as they were unusual, "raised the wind" to pay off a debt on their father's church.

Adolph, and How He Found the "Beautiful Lady." By Fannie J. Taylor. Illustrated by Helene Toerring.

A touching story of the devotion of a poor German immigrant and her son Adolph to a little girl, who, coming to this country on a cholera-laden ship, was taken from her mother by the health officers, and, together with Adolph and many others, placed in the hospital. Owing to a mistake in identity she was reported to have died, and Adolph's mother, though nearly penniless, adopted her. The story turns on the boy's efforts to find the child's mother, the "Beautiful Lady."

The Making of a Hero, and Other Stories for Boys. By Mrs. George A. Paull, author of "Prince Dimple," etc. Illustrated by G. W. Bonte.

Six stirring stories of real, live, every-day boys, who do the things that boys do in real life, as distinguished from what they do in books—and nowhere else. The titles are: The Making of a Hero, A Matter of Honor, How the Twins went to the Fair, Apron-Strings, An Amateur Detective, and The Old Fort.

Probable Sons. By the author of "Eric's Good News." Illustrated.

A little child, fascinated by the story of the Prodigal Son, whom she miscalls the "Probable Son," is the means of helping several wanderers to return to the Father's home.

Teddy's Button. By the author of "Probable Sons." Illustrated.

A button taken from the coat of his dying soldier father becomes Teddy's incentive to valiant deeds as a soldier of Christ.

How she acquired the exquisite literary style she possesses will not be explained this side of the hereafter. Not a false rhyme nor a halting foot in her verse, not a figure but rings true, she who never heard of grammar nor rules. . . . Nothing so precious has come from the Fatherland since the hymns of Luther and the writings of Goethe — Philadelphia Telegraph.

Here is a woman who, by sheer force of genius, has risen in a few months from a common laborer of the fields to be known as one of Germany's most popular modern poets. The Renaissance Bindings.

MESSRS. ROBERTS BROTHERS offer a line of some of their most popular books, bound in full crushed Turkey morocco, of dainty colors, and decorated in a style which fully justifies the characteristic term "Renaissance," being a revival of the old English bindings in vogue some seventy or eighty years ago, which were adapted from various artistic designs used in the Middle Ages. The books are hand-finished in a chaste and beautiful manner, solid gold edges, rolled on the inside and outer edges of the covers. The books are issued at extremely low retail prices, considering the fine quality of workmanship.

AN AMERICAN TEXT-BOOK OF OBSTETRICS. Edited by RICHARD C. NORRIS, M. D.; Art Editor, ROBERT L. DICKINSON, M. D. One handsome octavo volume of over 1000 pages, with nearly 900 colored and half-tone illustrations. Prices: Cloth, $7.00; Sheep or Half-Morocco, $8.00.

The advent of each successive volume of the series of the AMERICAN TEXT-BOOKS has been signalized by the most flattering comment from both the Press and the Profession. The high consideration received by these text-books, and their attainment to an authoritative position in current medical literature, have been matters of deep international interest, which finds its fullest expression in the demand for these publications from all parts of the civilized world.

In the preparation of the "AMERICAN TEXT-BOOK OF OBSTETRICS" the editor has called to his aid proficient collaborators whose professional prominence entitles them to recognition, and whose disquisitions exemplify Practical Obstetrics. While these writers were each assigned special themes for discussion, the correlation of the subject-matter is, nevertheless, such as ensures logical connection in treatment, the deductions of which thoroughly represent the latest advances in the science, and which elucidate the best modern methods of procedure.

The more conspicuous feature of the treatise is its wealth of illustrative matter. The production of the illustrations had been in progress for several years, under the personal supervision of Robert L. Dickinson, M. D., to whose artistic judgment and professional experience is due the most sumptuously illustrated work of the period. By means of the photographic art, combined with the skill of the artist and draughtsman, conventional illustration is superseded by rational methods of delineation.

Furthermore, the volume is a revelation as to the possibilities that may be reached in mechanical execution, through the unsparing hand of its publisher.

"At first glance we are overwhelmed by the magnitude of this work in several respects, viz.: First, by the size of the volume, then by the array of eminent teachers in this department who have taken part in its production, then by the profuseness and character of the illustrations, and last, but not least, the conciseness and clearness with which the text is rendered. This is an entirely new composition, embodying the highest knowledge of the art as it stands to-day by authors who occupy the front rank in their specialty, and there are many of them. We cannot turn over these pages without being struck by the superb illustrations which adorn so many of them. We are confident that this most practical work will find instant appreciation by practitioners as well as students."—New York Medical Times.

Permit me to say that your American Text-Book of Obstetrics is the most magnificent medical work that I have ever seen. I congratulate you and thank you for this superb work, which alone is sufficient to place you first in the ranks of medical publishers.

With profound respect I am sincerely yours,

ALEX. J. C. SKENE.

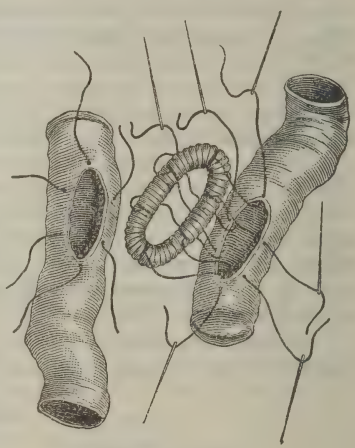
AN AMERICAN TEXT-BOOK OF SURGERY. Edited by WILLIAM W. KEEN, M. D., LL.D., and J. WILLIAM WHITE, M. D., PH. D. Forming one handsome royal-octavo volume of 1250 pages (10×7 inches), with 500 wood-cuts in text, and 37 colored and half-tone plates, many of them engraved from original photographs and drawings furnished by the authors. Prices: Cloth, $7.00; Sheep or Half-Morocco, $8.00 net.

SECOND EDITION, REVISED AND ENLARGED.

The want of a text-book which could be used by the practitioner and at the same time be recommended to the medical student has been deeply felt, especially by teachers of surgery; hence, when it was suggested to a number of these that it would be well to unite in preparing a text-book of this description, great unanimity of opinion was found to exist, and the gentlemen below named gladly consented to join in its production.



Specimen Illustration (largely reduced).

Especial prominence has been given to Surgical Bacteriology, a feature which is believed to be unique in a surgical text-book in the English language. Asepsis and Antisepsis have received particular attention. The text is brought well up to date in such important branches as cerebral, spinal, intestinal, and pelvic surgery, the most important and newest operations in these departments being described and illustrated.

The text of the entire book has been submitted to all the authors for their mutual criticism and revision—an idea in book-making that is entirely new and original. The book as a whole, therefore, expresses on all the important surgical topics of the day the consensus of opinion of the eminent surgeons who have joined in its preparation.

One of the most attractive features of the book is its illustrations. Very many of them are original and faithful reproductions of photographs taken directly from patients or from specimens, and the modern improvements in the art of engraving have enabled the publisher to produce illustrations which it is believed are superior to those in any similar work.

The articles are not written as though addressed to students in lectures, but are exhaustive descriptions of diseases, with the newest facts as regards Causation, Symptomatology, Diagnosis, Prognosis, and Treatment, including a large number of approved formulæ. The recent advances made in the study of the bacterial origin of various diseases are fully described, as well as the bearing of the knowledge so gained upon prevention and cure. Methods of diagnosis are given the most minute and careful attention, thus enabling the reader to learn the very latest methods of investigation without consulting works specially devoted to the subject.

"We reviewed the first volume of this work, and said: 'It is undoubtedly one of the best text-books on the practice of medicine which we possess.' A consideration of the second and last volume leads us to modify that verdict and to say that the completed work is, in our opinion, the BEST of its kind it has ever been our fortune to see. It is complete, thorough, accurate, and clear. It is well written, well arranged, well printed, well illustrated, and well bound. It is a model of what the modern text-book should be."—New York Medical Journal.

AN AMERICAN TEXT-BOOK OF THE DISEASES OF CHILDREN. By American Teachers. Edited by LOUIS STARR, M. D., assisted by THOMPSON S. WESTCOTT, M. D. In one handsome royal-8vo volume of 1190 pages, profusely illustrated with wood-cuts, half-tone and colored plates. Prices: Cloth, $7.00 net; Sheep or Half-Morocco, $8.00 net.

The plan of this work embraces a series of original articles written by some sixty well-known pædiatrists, representing collectively the teachings of the most prominent medical schools and colleges of America. The work is intended to be a PRACTICAL book, suitable for constant and handy reference by the practitioner and the advanced student.

One decided innovation is the large number of authors, nearly every article being contributed by a specialist in the line on which he writes. This, while entailing considerable labor upon the editors, has resulted in the publication of a work THOROUGHLY NEW AND ABREAST OF THE TIMES.

Especial attention has been given to the consideration of the latest accepted teaching upon the etiology, symptoms, pathology, diagnosis, and treatment of the disorders of children, with the introduction of many special formulæ and therapeutic procedures.

Special chapters embrace at unusual length the Diseases of the Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat, and the Skin; while the introductory chapters cover fully the important subjects of Diet, Hygiene, Exercise, Bathing, and the Chemistry of Food. Tracheotomy, Intubation, Circumcision, and such minor surgical procedures coming within the province of the medical practitioner, are carefully considered.

AN AMERICAN TEXT-BOOK OF GYNECOLOGY, MEDICAL AND SURGICAL, for the use of Students and Practitioners. Edited by J. M. BALDY, M. D. Forming a handsome royal-octavo volume, with 360 illustrations in text and 37 colored and half-tone plates. Prices: Cloth, $6.00 net; Sheep or Half-Morocco, $7.00 net.

In this volume all anatomical descriptions, excepting those essential to a clear understanding of the text, have been omitted, the illustrations being largely depended upon to elucidate the anatomy of the parts. This work, which is thoroughly practical in its teachings, is intended, as its title implies, to be a working text-book for physicians and students. A clear line of treatment has been laid down in every case, and although no attempt has been made to discuss mooted points, still the most important of these have been noted and explained. The operations recommended are fully illustrated, so that the reader, having a picture of the procedure described in the text under his eye, cannot fail to grasp the idea. All extraneous matter and discussions have been carefully excluded, the attempt being made to allow no unnecessary details to cumber the text. The subject-matter is brought up to date at every point, and the work is as nearly as possible the combined opinions of the ten specialists who figure as the authors.

The work is well illustrated throughout with wood-cuts, half-tone and colored plates, mostly selected from the authors' private collections.

"The most notable contribution to gynecological literature since 1887, ... and the most complete exponent of gynecology which we have. No subject seems to have been neglected, ... and the gynecologist and surgeon and the general practitioner, who has any desire to practise diseases of women, will find it of practical value. In the matter of illustrations and plates the book surpasses anything we have seen."—Boston Medical and Surgical Journal.

PATHOLOGY AND SURGICAL TREATMENT OF TUMORS.

By N. SENN, M. D., PH. D., LL. D., Professor of Surgery and of Clinical Surgery, Rush Medical College; Professor of Surgery, Chicago Polyclinic; Attending Surgeon to Presbyterian Hospital; Surgeon-in-Chief, St. Joseph's Hospital, Chicago. 710 pages, 515 engravings, including full-page colored plates. Prices: Cloth, $6.00 net; Half-Morocco, $7.00 net.

Books specially devoted to this subject are few, and in our text-books and systems of surgery this part of surgical pathology is usually condensed to a degree incompatible with its scientific and clinical importance. The author spent many years in collecting the material for this work, and has taken great pains to present it in a manner that should prove useful as a text-book for the student, a work of reference for the busy practitioner, and a reliable, safe guide for the surgeon. The more difficult operations are fully described and illustrated. More than one hundred of the illustrations are original, while the remainder were selected from books and medical journals not readily accessible to the student and the general practitioner.

"The appearance of such a work is most opportune. . . . In design and execution the work is such as will appeal to every student who appreciates the logical examination of facts and the practical exemplification of well-digested clinical observation."—Medical Record, New York.

"The most exhaustive of any recent book in English on this subject. It is well illustrated, and will doubtless remain as the principal monograph on the subject in our language for some years. The book is handsomely illustrated and printed, ... and the author has given a notable and lasting contribution to surgery."—Journal of American Medical Association, Chicago.

SURGICAL PATHOLOGY AND THERAPEUTICS.

By JOHN COLLINS WARREN, M. D., LL. D., Professor of Surgery, Medical Department Harvard University; Surgeon to the Massachusetts General Hospital, etc. A handsome octavo volume of 832 pages, with 136 relief and lithographic illustrations, 33 of which are printed in colors, and all of which were drawn by William J. Kaula from original specimens. Prices: Cloth, $6.00 net; Half-Morocco, $7.00 net.

"The volume is for the bedside, the amphitheatre, and the ward. It deals with things not as we see them through the microscope alone, but as the practitioner sees their effect in his patients; not only as they appear in and affect culture-media, but also as they influence the human body; and, following up the demonstrations of the nature of diseases, the author points out their logical treatment" (New York Medical Journal). "Indeed, the volume may be termed a modern medical classic, for such is the position to which it has already risen" (Medical Age, Detroit), "and is the handsomest specimen of bookmaking * * * that has ever been issued from the American medical press" (American Journal of the Medical Sciences, Philadelphia).

Without Exception, the Illustrations are the Best ever Seen in a Work of this Kind.

"A most striking and very excellent feature of this book is its illustrations. Without exception, from the point of accuracy and artistic merit, they are the best ever seen in a work of this kind. * * * Many of those representing microscopic pictures are so perfect in their coloring and detail as almost to give the beholder the impression that he is looking down the barrel of a microscope at a well-mounted section."—Annals of Surgery, Philadelphia.

DISEASES OF THE EYE. A Hand-Book of Ophthalmic Practice. By G. E. DESCHWEINITZ, M. D., Professor of Diseases of the Eye, Philadelphia Polyclinic; Clinical Professor of Ophthalmology, Jefferson Medical College, Philadelphia, etc. A handsome royal-octavo volume of 679 pages, with 256 fine illustrations, many of which are original, and 2 chromo-lithographic plates. Prices: Cloth, $4.00 net; Sheep, $5.00 net; Half Russia, $5.50 net.

SECOND EDITION, REVISED AND GREATLY ENLARGED.

The object of this work is to present to the student, and to the practitioner who is beginning work in the fields of ophthalmology, a plain description of the optical defects and diseases of the eye. To this end special attention has been paid to the clinical side of the question; and the method of examination, the symptomatology leading to a diagnosis, and the treatment of the various ocular defects have been brought into special prominence. The general plan of the book is eminently practical. Attention is called to the large number of illustrations (nearly one-third of which are new), which will materially facilitate the thorough understanding of the subject.

MEDICAL DIAGNOSIS. By Dr. OSWALD VIERORDT, Professor of Medicine at the University of Heidelberg. Translated, with additions, from the Second Enlarged German Edition, with the author's permission, by FRANCIS H. STUART, A. M., M. D. Third and Revised Edition. In one handsome royal-octavo volume of 700 pages, 178 fine wood-cuts in text, many of which are in colors. Prices: Cloth, $4.00 net; Sheep, $5.00 net; Half Russia, $5.50 net.

In this work, as in no other hitherto published, are given full and accurate explanations of the phenomena observed at the bedside. It is distinctly a clinical work by a master teacher, characterized by thoroughness, fulness, and accuracy. It is a mine of information upon the points that are so often passed over without explanation. Especial attention has been given to the germ-theory as a factor in the origin of disease.

This valuable work is now published in German, English, Russian, and Italian. The issue of a third American edition within two years indicates the favor with which it has been received by the profession.

"Rarely is a book published with which a reviewer can find so little fault as with the volume before us. All the chapters are full, and leave little to be desired by the reader. Each particular item in the consideration of an organ or apparatus, which is necessary to determine a diagnosis of any disease of that organ, is mentioned; nothing seems forgotten. The chapters on diseases of the circulatory and digestive apparatus and nervous system are especially full and valuable. Notwithstanding a few minor errors in translating, which are of small importance to the accuracy of the rest of the volume, the reviewer would repeat that the book is one of the best—probably, the best—which has fallen into his hands. An excellent and comprehensive index of nearly one hundred pages closes the volume."—University Medical Magazine, Philadelphia.

Specially intended for students preparing for graduation and hospital examinations. Post 8vo, 512 pages. Illustrated. Price, $2.50.

FOURTH EDITION, REVISED AND ENLARGED.

Contributions to the science of medicine have poured in so rapidly during the last quarter of a century that it is well-nigh impossible for the student, with the limited time at his disposal, to master elaborate treatises or to cull from them that knowledge which is absolutely essential. From an extended experience in teaching, the author has been enabled, by classification, to group allied symptoms, and by the elimination of theories and redundant explanations to bring within a comparatively small compass a complete outline of the practice of medicine.

OUTLINES OF OBSTETRICS: A Syllabus of Lectures Delivered at Long Island College Hospital. By CHARLES JEWETT, A. M., M. D., Professor of Obstetrics and Pediatrics in the College, and Obstetrician to the Hospital. Edited by HAROLD F. JEWETT, M. D. Post 8vo, 264 pages. Price, $2.00.

This book treats only of the general facts and principles of obstetrics: these are stated in concise terms and in a systematic and natural order of sequence, theoretical discussion being as far as possible avoided; the subject is thus presented in a form most easily grasped and remembered by the student. Special attention has been devoted to practical questions of diagnosis and treatment, and in general particular prominence is given to facts which the student most needs to know. The condensed form of statement and the orderly arrangement of topics adapt it to the wants of the busy practitioner as a means of refreshing his knowledge of the subject and as a handy manual for daily reference.

SYLLABUS OF OBSTETRICAL LECTURES in the Medical Department, University of Pennsylvania. By RICHARD C. NORRIS, A. M., M. D., Demonstrator of Obstetrics in the University of Pennsylvania. Third edition, thoroughly revised and enlarged. Crown 8vo. Price, Cloth, interleaved for notes, $2.00 net.

"This work is so far superior to others on the same subject that we take pleasure in calling attention briefly to its excellent features. It covers the subject thoroughly, and will prove invaluable both to the student and the practitioner. The author has introduced a number of valuable hints which would only occur to one who was himself an experienced teacher of obstetrics. The subject-matter is clear, forcible, and modern. We are especially pleased with the portion devoted to the practical duties of the accoucheur, care of the child, etc. The paragraphs on antiseptics are admirable; there is no doubtful tone in the directions given. No details are regarded as unimportant; no minor matters omitted. We venture to say that even the old practitioner will find useful hints in this direction which he cannot afford to despise."—Medical Record.

SAUNDERS'

NEW AID SERIES OF MANUALS.

FOR

STUDENTS AND PRACTITIONERS.

Mr. Saunders is pleased to announce the successful issue of several volumes of his NEW AID SERIES OF MANUALS, which have received the most flattering commendations from Students and Practitioners and the Press. As publisher of the Standard Series of Question Compends, and through intimate relations with leading members of the medical profession, Mr. Saunders has been enabled to study progressively the essential desiderata in practical "self-helps" for students and physicians.

This study has manifested that, while the published "Question Compends" earn the highest appreciation of students, whom they serve in reviewing their studies preparatory to examination, there is special need of thoroughly reliable handbooks on the leading branches of Medicine and Surgery, each subject being compactly and authoritatively written, and exhaustive in detail, without the introduction of cases and foreign subject-matter which so largely expand ordinary text-books.

The Saunders Aid Series will not merely be condensations from present literature, but will be ably written by well-known authors and practitioners, most of them being teachers in representative American Colleges. This new series, therefore, will form an admirable collection of advanced lectures, which will be invaluable aids to students in reading and in comprehending the contents of "recommended" works.

Each Manual will further be distinguished by the beauty of the new type; by the quality of the paper and printing; by the copious use of illustrations; by the attractive binding in cloth; and by the extremely low price at which they will be sold.

SAUNDERS' QUESTION COMPENDS.

Arranged in Question and Answer Form.

THE LATEST, CHEAPEST, AND BEST ILLUSTRATED SERIES OF COMPENDS EVER ISSUED.

Now the Standard Authorities in Medical Literature

WITH

Students and Practitioners in every City of the United States and Canada.

THE REASON WHY

They are the advance guard of "Student's Helps"—that DO HELP; they are the leaders in their special line, well and authoritatively written by able men, who, as teachers in the large colleges, know exactly what is wanted by a student preparing for his examinations. The judgment exercised in the selection of authors is fully demonstrated by their professional elevation. Chosen from the ranks of Demonstrators, Quiz-masters, and Assistants, most of them have become Professors and Lecturers in their respective colleges.

Each book is of convenient size (5 × 7 inches), containing on an average 250 pages, profusely illustrated, and elegantly printed in clear, readable type, on fine paper.

The entire series, numbering twenty-three volumes, has been kept thoroughly revised and enlarged when necessary, many of them being in their fourth and fifth editions.

TO SUM UP.

Although there are numerous other Quizzes, Manuals, Aids, etc. in the market, none of them approach the "Blue Series of Question Compends;" and the claim is made for the following points of excellence:

1. Professional distinction and reputation of authors.
2. Conciseness, clearness, and soundness of treatment.
3. Size of type and quality of paper and binding.

 Any of these Compends will be mailed on receipt of price (see over for List).

SAUNDERS'
American Year-Book of Medicine and Surgery

COLLECTED AND ARRANGED BY EMINENT AMERICAN SPECIALISTS AND TEACHERS, UNDER THE EDITORIAL CHARGE OF
GEORGE M. GOULD, M. D.

The knowledge gained is equivalent to a post-graduate course.

Uniform in size with the "American Text-Book" Series.

NOTWITHSTANDING the rapid multiplication of medical and surgical works, still these publications fail to meet fully the requirements of the general physician, inasmuch as he feels the need of something more than mere text-books of well-known principles of medical science. Mr. Saunders has long been impressed with this fact, which is confirmed by the unanimity of expression from the profession at large, as indicated by advices from his large corps of canvassers.

This deficiency would best be met by current journalistic literature, but most practitioners have scant access to this almost unlimited source of information, and the busy practiser has but little time to search out in periodicals the many interesting cases, whose study would doubtless be of inestimable value in his practice. Therefore, a work which places before the physician in convenient form an epitomization of this literature by persons competent to pronounce upon cannot but command his highest appreciation. It is this critical and judicial function that will be assumed by the Editorial staff of the "American Year-Book of Medicine and Surgery."

The Value of a Discovery or of a Method of Treatment

It is the special purpose of the Editor, whose experience peculiarly qualifies him for the preparation of this work, not only to review the contributions to American journals, but also the methods and discoveries reported in the leading medical journals of Europe, thus enlarging the survey and making the work characteristically international. These reviews will not simply be a series of undigested abstracts indiscriminately run together, nor will they be retrospective of "news" one or two years old, but the treatment presented will be synthetic and dogmatic, and will include only what is new. Moreover, through expert condensation by experienced writers, these discussions will be Comprised in a Single Volume of about 1200 Pages.

The work will be replete with original and selected illustrations skilfully reproduced, for the most part, in Mr. Saunders' own studios established for the purpose, thus ensuring accuracy in delineation, affording efficient aids to a right comprehension of the text, and adding to the attractiveness of the volume.

Stamp Milling of Gold Ores.

XV. The Flouring of Mercury.
XVI. Mills and Millmen.
XVII. The Future of the Stamp Mill.
Glossary of Stamp-Milling Terms.

This book offers a careful description of the most recent gold-milling practice in this and other countries, being a record of the results of investigations made by the author in the course of professional work during the past ten years. The author's inquiry into the principles of this important branch of metallurgy sprang from the first observation of the apparently contradictory practice of Colorado and California, in both of which States he has had charge of the operation of typical milling plants. The search for the scientific principles explaining methods so diverse led him to the general study of the reduction of gold ores and induced him to spread the inquiry over a field nearly commensurate with existing mining regions. The matter thus collected is rather a painstaking description of practice than a discussion of the chemistry and mechanics of the stamp-milling process, and is therefore quite as valuable to those engaged in the work of the mill as to the student and engineer.

This work has been specially prepared for the use of all students in this great department of chemical science. The difficulties which beset beginners are borne in mind, and detailed information has been given concerning the various manipulations. All enumerations of species as far as possible have been carried out in alphabetical order, and in the determinative tables more attention has been paid to the physical characteristics of substances under examination than has ever yet been done in a work of this kind. To a compilation of all the blowpipe reactions heretofore recognized as correct the author has added a number of new ones not previously published. The entirearrangement of the volume is an original one, and to the knowledge born of an extensive practical experience the author has added everything of value that could be gleaned from other sources. The book cannot fail to find a place in the library or workshop of almost every student and scientist in America.

THE CANADIAN ICE AGE.

BEING

NOTES ON THE PLEISTOCENE GEOLOGY OF CANADA, WITH ESPECIAL REFERENCE TO THE LIFE OF THE PERIOD AND ITS CLIMATAL CONDITIONS.

BY

Sir J. WILLIAM DAWSON, C.M.G.,
LL.D., F.R.S., F.G.S., Etc.

This book contains information bearing on the history of the northern half of the continent of North America in that Ice Age which was in some sense peculiarly its own.

The author has long been convinced that we must take into account the agency both of land ice and sea-borne ice in many forms, along with repeated and complex elevations and depressions of large portions of the continent, in order to account for the effects observed. He is disposed, however, to seek for the causes of changes of climate rather in geological and geographical agencies than in astronomical vicissitudes, some of which are too slow and uncertain in their operation, and others altogether conjectural. Such views are less sensational than those which invoke vast and portentous exaggerations of individual phenomena, but they are likely, in the end, to commend themselves to serious thinkers, especially when they are confirmed by the facts observed in the regions which are, of all others, best suited for the study both of extinct and recent ice-action.

TABLE OF CONTENTS.

Chapter I. Historical Details.
Chapter II. The Succession of Deposits.
Chapter III. Physical and Climatal Conditions.
Chapter IV. Physical and Climatal Conditions, Continued.

THE PHOSPHATES OF AMERICA

Where and How They Occur; How They Are Mined; and What They Cost.

With Practical Treatises on the Manufacture of Sulphuric Acid, Acid Phosphate, Phosphoric Acid and Concentrated Superphosphates, and Select Methods of Chemical Analysis.

BY

FRANCIS WYATT, Ph. D.

BOUND IN CLOTH. PROFUSELY ILLUSTRATED. PRICE ONLY $4.00.

It is the first work of its kind ever published, and cannot fail to be welcomed by every one at all interested in the subject of phosphates or phosphate mining.

TO THE MINER

This remarkable book is indispensable, describing and fully illustrating the geological occurrence; the various modern methods of mining; the actual mining cost and the chemical composition of all the workable phosphate deposits of the American continent.

TO THE FERTILIZER MANUFACTURER

It is, as the title implies, a standard authority in every phase of his industry. It gives methods, resulting from long practical experience, by which the most satisfactory results are obtained from all grades of phosphates, including those chemically defective and heretofore unused. It also contains valuable working tables whereby perfect products can be produced by those unfamiliar with chemistry.

TO THE CHEMIST

It must prove a veritable guide and reference book, since he will find in it every detail required for reliable, rapid, and strictly scientific analyses of all material used in the industries indicated by the title. The methods are those used in the author's own laboratory, and are supplemented by detailed descriptions of manipulation and apparatus; factors for facilitating calculations; formulæ for preparation of all reagents, and instructions for estimating and stating results of analyses.

TO THE GENERAL READER

It affords an opportunity, hitherto lacking, of studying a concise treatise on phosphates and fertilizers, by a practical and conscientious expert in everyday language. The capitalist, banker, merchant, and intelligent farmer may all derive from it with facility a liberal education on the important subjects treated, as the use of scientific terms is restricted to the technical pages alone.

Parliamentary Tactics

FOR THE USE OF THE

PRESIDING OFFICER

AND

PUBLIC SPEAKERS.

BY

HARRY W. HOOT.

This little manual on Parliamentary Tactics is arranged in a way especially adapted for use by "the Chair" from such standard authorities as Roberts, Cushing, Matthias, Jefferson, and Crocker.

Where the authorities differ, the view most conformable to the latest and most thoroughly established usages of Parliamentary Law has been accepted.

The table of motions has been arranged by placing on the margin the names of such motions as are used in Common Parliamentary Practice, with their classification and order of procedure in a deliberative body, being placed at the top of the book, and descending in regular consecutive order will be found those having the next highest order of precedence, viz.: Privileged questions, Incidental questions, Subsidiary motions, and Main questions. Thus can be seen without turning a page and in a moment's time whether a motion is in order.

Between each marginal reference will be found in a condensed form all the rules relating to that particular question.

The book is so arranged that it can be carried in the pocket. Bound in cloth. It will be found to be of invaluable aid to those who are required to decide questions of Parliamentary Law without reference to larger text-books.

INTERNATIONAL CRITICAL COM- mentary on the Holy Scriptures of the Old and New Testaments. Issued under the editorship of Prof. C. A. BRIGGS, D.D., in America, and Prof. S. R. DRIVER and Rev. ALFRED PLUMMER, D.D., in Great Britain.

This commentary will be international and inter-confessional, and will be free from polemical and ecclesiastical bias. It will be based upon a thorough critical study of the original texts of the Bible, and upon critical methods of interpretation. It is designed chiefly for students and clergymen, and will be written in a compact style. Historical and Archaeological questions, as well as questions of Biblical Theology, are included in the plan of the Commentary, but not Practical or Homiletical Exegesis. The volumes will constitute a uniform series.

Please Note Carefully the Following:

EXPLANATION OF PRICES:—

1. The Introductory price indicated in our Catalogue is the price at which a book so listed will be furnished for first introduction into schools and colleges where not already in use.

2. The Wholesale price is the same as the Introductory price given in this Catalogue, and is used in billing all orders.

3. The Exchange price, the price at which a book will be furnished to pupils for first introduction, in addition to the corresponding old book in use, applies to school and college text-books only, and is usually two-thirds of the Introductory price.

4. Books sent for introductory supply will be billed at list Introductory prices, and the proper allowance for handling and for old books received in exchange will be made at settlement.

5. A single copy of any of our books will be sent, postage or expressage paid, to any address on receipt of the Mailing price, or of the Retail price when given. Such of our Charts, Maps, etc., as are not mailable, will be forwarded on receipt of Catalogue price — expressage to be at the expense of the purchaser.

AN EXAMINATION COPY of any school or college text-book named in our Catalogue, will be sent post-paid to any teacher or school officer on receipt of the Introductory price.

SUGGESTIONS. — In ordering, parties will confer a favor upon us by complying with the following suggestions:—

1. Always be careful to give full and exact titles.

2. State whether books ordered are for Introduction or for Regular Trade.

3. If for Introduction, make a careful estimate of the number of books required, and be careful not to send an excessive order; a second order is always more satisfactory to all concerned than a return of books resulting from an excessive order.

4. In ordering for Introduction, be particular to state the school or schools in which the books are to be introduced, what book, if any, is to be displaced, whether it is expected that exchanges will be made, and the probable number of such exchanges.

5. If you are not personally known to us, and wish us to open an account with you, always mention the name of some reliable party to whom we may refer, if we desire information respecting your responsibility and standing.

TERMS. — Note carefully the following:—

1. Orders for single copies of any book should always be accompanied by cash; do not ask us to open an account for the price of a single book.

2. All accounts for merchandise ordered for Regular Trade should be paid on or before the 15th of the month following the one in which they were contracted; if not so paid, we reserve the right to draw at sight, without special notice, through our Bank, on the 15th of the month, for the amount of such accounts.

3. All Introductory Accounts must be settled monthly. If the time allowed for introduction has not expired, parties with whom we have open accounts for Introductory Supplies should send us on the first of the month a statement of the books on hand unsold, with remittance to cover all books sold.

REMITTANCES should be sent to us by Bank Draft, P. O. Money Order, Express Order, or Registered Letter.

TATE'S IMPROVED ARITHMOMETER. A most useful instrument, both to the actuary and the statistician. The working of the machine in multiplication is simply astounding, the results being produced with unfailing accuracy. In the computation of percentages it is very useful and saves a vast amount of labor. It is made in two sizes, one giving 16 figures in product, the other 12 figures. Prices: 12 figure machine, $275.00; 16 figure machine, $375.00. Send stamp for full descriptive pamphlet.

THE BRUNSVIGA CALCULATING MACHINE. This device, which does the work of the most complex machines made, costs less than one-half as much. The saving of time and mental labor effected by it is immense. It will multiply, divide, add, subtract; consequently will perform all numerical compilations in plain figures or decimals. A pamphlet giving full explanations regarding the "Brunsviga," together with numerous examples of its work, will be sent on application. Prices: Size "A," 18 figures in product, $160.00; Size "B," 13 figures in product, $125.00; Size "C," 10 figures in product, $110.00.

THE GRANT CALCULATING MACHINE. While there is a steady demand for the "Brunsviga" calculating machine and Tate's "Arithmometer," there are many persons who do not care to purchase an expensive machine, and yet desire the assistance of a calculating instrument. To these we offer the "Grant Calculating Machine," which is made in two sizes, viz.: with a 10 figure product register and with a 17 figure product register. It is designed for addition, multiplication, division, the extraction of roots, etc. Send stamp for descriptive pamphlet. Prices: 10 figure machine, $60.00; 17 figure machine, $90.00.

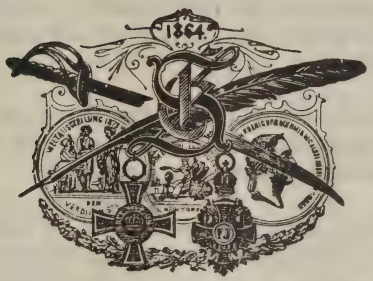
E. Steiger & Co.,

Publishers and Importers,

New York.



Kindergarten Education

is growing daily in general appreciation; its rapid introduction into the public schools follows the great success it has attained in private schools and in families.

Booksellers will, therefore, do well to give this branch of trade due attention, and to keep samples, at least, of Kindergarten Material, Gifts, and Occupations.

We refer to the new (6th) edition of our

Kindergarten Catalogue,

which is printed on the following pages.

Our numerous

Catalogues and Lists of German Publications

(a few of which have been printed in the Uniform Trade List Annual for 1892, 1893, 1894 and 1895) are enumerated on the next leaf; we also refer to the Index of the Subjects, which are represented in our stock.

☞ Books and Periodicals not found in our, but mentioned in other Catalogues or elsewhere, may likewise be obtained through us. — Whatever may not be on hand, we procure within the shortest possible time, from any Country.

E. Steiger & Co., 25 Park Place, New York.

Steiger's Stock of German Books, &c.

Some expressions of bookbuyers concerning it:

..."I had tried all the Chicago bookstores in vain. Unsuccessfully I also wrote to two firms in New York; they both had not the book on hand, but offered to import it for me. Then I thought of you, and now I am really delighted at receiving the book by return mail. Your stock appears to be very complete, and hereafter I shall direct all my orders to you, the more so as your rates are liberal."

..."I am really much obliged to you for filling my entire order by return Express. I had not imagined that you would be able to send more than about half the list immediately, from your stock."

..."All the orders for American as well as for foreign publications that I have hitherto sent you, have been filled to my entire satisfaction, and I recommend your house whenever I have an opportunity to do so. I must also say that you have secured for me some very good bargains in 'pick-up' orders."

etc., etc.

As long ago as 1882, a prominent German bookseller in the West wrote:

"I have hitherto found that from your stock I can obtain about three times as many German books as from any other house in New York. Your stock is of great advantage to me."

Indeed, our stock of German books (which contains many thousands that cannot be found for sale elsewhere in New York) and our facility of obtaining American and foreign publications in this city, are undoubtedly of great advantage to all bookbuyers.

In most cases books are needed at once, and it is of great importance to obtain them without delay, instead of being obliged to wait about a month before they can be imported.

In case a certain book is (temporarily) not on our shelves nor to be found elsewhere in this city, we can procure it from abroad at least as quickly as any one else. If the customer should be willing to pay the cost of a cablegram ($1.00 or more, as the case may be) the required book could, generally, be made to arrive in New York within 2 weeks.

We refer to the large number of our Catalogues and Lists of the Books, etc., which we keep on hand and for sale.

All inquiries will be promptly attended to.

E. Steiger & Co., 25 Park Place, New York.

Index of the Subjects represented in E. Steiger & Co.'s Catalogues and Lists of German and other Publications, which are usually kept on hand and for sale.

Reference to many hundreds of minor specialities that are represented on E. Steiger & Co.'s shelves, has been omitted in this Index; it mentions expressly only the more important subjects (in which those minor specialities are, of course, embraced).

Moreover, it should be understood that important new publications are, as soon as issued, added to the stock of E. Steiger & Co., from whom they may, therefore, be ordered, although not advertised by them.

Of many German Periodicals stock is kept on hand; all others, in whatever country published, are imported to order, by various conveyances — at correspondingly different prices, which will be quoted upon inquiry.

Note. Steiger's Catalogues and Lists have, primarily for the purpose of being distributed singly, been issued—not in regular order—in the course of 3 years; for various reasons they have not been edited in uniform style, nor have all been numbered and paged. They can be had done up in a complete collection of about 500 pp. (price $0.25), and also, to answer the needs of other bookbuyers, in various small combinations. These Catalogues and Lists will be supplemented from time to time, or re-edited to correspond with the additions to, and changes in, the stock of E. Steiger & Co.

Abbreviations: L. = Language — M. = Manufacture of. The * in place of a number indicates that the publications on that subject are mentioned on a separate leaf.

This Index shows that our stock comprises nearly all departments of German literature. There are only a few classes of publications of which we do not keep stock on our shelves, because our showroom is limited, and also because we can procure those publications elsewhere in this city immediately upon receipt of an order. — Anything not to be had in New York will be imported by us within the shortest possible time.

It is admitted that the best text-books for teaching

German in Public Schools

STEIGER'S COLLOQUIAL METHOD

OF LEARNING THE GERMAN LANGUAGE.

By

JOSEPH DEGHUÉE.

The Colloquial Method followed in this book attempts so to combine the "natural" method with the "grammatical" as to include the best features of both.

While the student is trained, from the outset, to comprehend the foreign idiom when spoken, and to express his own thoughts in the foreign language, the conversation is under the constant guidance of grammar, question and answer, address and reply being always kept within the limits of the grammatical knowledge of the student.

The grammatical instruction, distributed over 124 lessons, passes in very easy stages through the whole range of German etymology and comprises the essential rules of German syntax.

Each lesson gives 1) a very simple grammatical rule or explanation, which is illustrated by sentences for oral and written translation and questions that must be answered in German; 2) a conversation, generally in the nature of an object lesson, containing only such terminations and grammatical forms as are, at that stage, known to the student, and gradually introducing the most common words of daily intercourse.

These conversations are not ready-made dialogues designed to be read, translated, and memorized, but real discourses, in which the student has to bear an active and living part. Thus he acquires a large vocabulary and considerable readiness and fluency in the use of the language: without tedious effort, he learns to speak German.

Steiger's
Kindergarten Catalogue

Being a List of the Most Complete Assortment

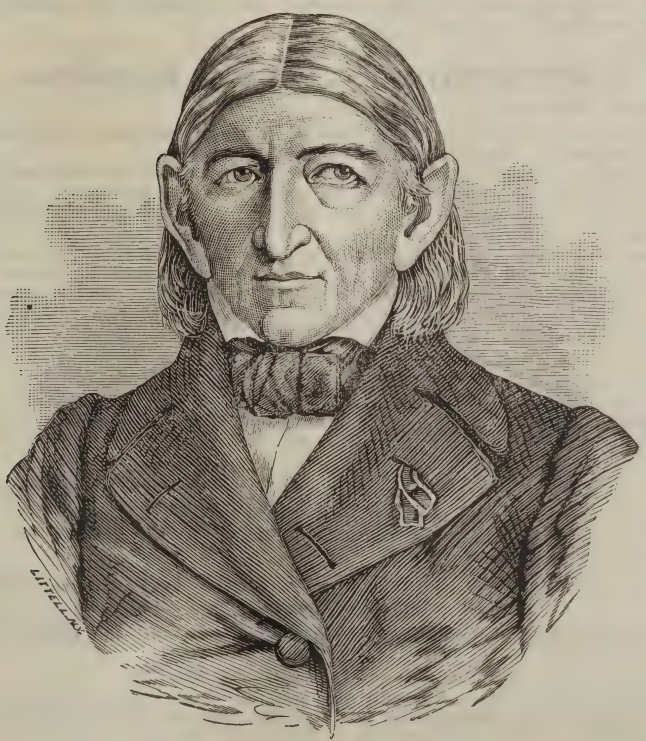
of

Kindergarten Material, Gifts and Occupations,

Educational and Kindergarten Publications, etc.



"Come, let us live for our children!"

Notice.

This 6th edition of our Kindergarten Catalogue shows that our assortment of Kindergarten Material is unsurpassed in extent, comprising as it does many articles that are not offered by any other dealer. Steiger's Kindergarten Material has been carefully manufactured in accordance with the directions of Mrs. MARIA KRAUS-BŒLTE and other authorities on the genuine Frœbel System both in America and in Europe.

We are incessantly adding to our stock whatever articles of merit may be adopted in America and also in Europe. Hence there are many on our shelves that are not enumerated in this Catalogue. In addition we desire to state that all Material and all Furniture offered anywhere else can likewise be obtained from us, and at the same prices.

In regard, however, to certain articles made from colored paper (see pp. 3, 4, 11 to 22, etc.) we here state expressly, that we keep the same made up from Prang's standard colored papers, whilst the corresponding goods of other dealers are made up from other colored papers (including BRADLEY'S) which, in a few cases, differ slightly in shade from PRANG'S.

Thus, all orders may be directed to us with the certainty of securing best quality, low prices, and prompt execution.

For all the articles made from paper we use Steiger's engine-colored, Steiger's coated glazed and Prang's standard colored papers (155 numbers, for a list of which see p. 41 of this Catalogue). Sample-books of either of these 3 kinds of colored papers will be mailed free upon request.

We beg to call special attention to our stock of more than 400 different in English and foreign languages. This stock will be incessantly increased by the addition of all new publications of this kind.

Kindergarten Publications

In regard to

Forwarding by Mail or Express

we beg to say the following:

1) After receipt of full price and postage quoted in this Catalogue we forward the articles desired prepaid by Mail.
2) Whenever 'weight' is mentioned, the article is too heavy for the Mail and must be forwarded by Express (or Railroad) at the expense of the purchaser.
3) If neither 'postage' nor 'weight' is quoted, the price includes forwarding expenses (which will then be paid by us).
4) When a number of articles or a quantity of any one are ordered at one time, the cost of forwarding the same will in most cases be much less, if sent by Express or Railroad, whichever to select as the cheapest way should be left to our judgment.
5) Remittances should be made by Post Office Money Order or Draft on New York. Amounts under $1.00 may be sent in U. S. Postage Stamps. ☞ We do not send C. O. D.

Whenever an over-payment has been made, we either return the balance immediately, if so desired, or else hold it to the credit of the customer for future orders.

When a quantity of Material, etc., is wanted for Kindergartens, private or public, a reduction in price will be made, as large as circumstances in each case permit. If a list of the Material, Furniture and Books needed is submitted to us, we shall be glad to make out our estimate.

☞ The designation by numbers (No.) of the several articles in this Catalogue is an arbitrary one, made by us for the purpose of enabling customers to be precise in ordering. Our numbering does not agree with that adopted by other dealers, and appearing in other catalogues and lists.

☞ To prevent mistakes, it is, therefore, requested to mention expressly:

Steiger's Kindergarten Material, and then state Quantity desired, No., Name of article, and the Price quoted in this Catalogue, as, for instance:

10 No. 21, Third Gift @ $0.20.

Such care in making out orders will save possible delay and annoyance.

Special attention is invited to the fact that Steiger's Kindergarten Material contains no deleterious coloring matter and is free from substances injurious to health.
